

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a process of producing ethanol by fermentation, said process comprising a simultaneous saccharification and fermentation (SSF) step conducted at a temperature of above 34°C in the presence of a glucoamylase and a thermo-tolerant yeast.